Announcement for Winter Term 2023/2024

Pathobiochemistry

The classes on the elective subject Pathobiochemistry 3 – Biochemical Disorders (B82433) will be provided in the winter semester of the academic year 2023/24 according to the issued syllabus.

The course consists of 7 lectures scheduled for the 1st – 7th week of the winter semester, followed by oral examination.

The lectures are held according to the schedule on Mondays at 16:15-17:45 in the Lecture Hall No. 3.073, Kateřinská 32. Topic of each lecture is specified by the syllabus.

The lectures are formally non-mandatory and attendance is not taken. However, knowledge of the lecture topics will be fully required at the exam, and so attendance at the lectures is expected, especially so as no mandatory lessons are provided in this course.

The oral examination can be taken in pre-terms since the 8th week of the winter semester. All the exam dates, pre-terms as well as regular terms, will be announced via the SIS. The exam questions will be revised and posted on our website in the near future.

In case of any further questions or comments, please contact MUDr. Jan Pláteník, Ph.D. (jplat@lf1.cuni.cz, tel. 224 964 587).
